Foreword

The College of today is more than a mere world of classrooms, for within its boundaries live young men whose activities are centered in many spheres other than the scholastic. In various fields of interest move friendly groups of students—working, playing, living the golden years that are so rich in experience.

So it is entirely appropriate that the "Howler" endeavor to faithfully capture the lights and shadows of each of these many little spheres whose sum total constitutes the larger and more fruitful college world.

THURMAN D. KITCHIN, B.A., M.D., LL.D., F.A.C.P.
President and Professor of Physiology

The record of the man who directs the destiny of Wake Forest College is too well known to warrant recital in these pages. From a family famous in its own right, Thurman Delna Kitchin upholds splendidly the best traditions bequeathed him by a father and two famous brothers.

Even those who have been associated with him since he assumed the Presidency can little estimate the value of the services he is rendering. Leave to coming years and future historians the story of the man and his work—a saga of courage and vision, an epoch in the history of a great institution.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISION

The office of Bursar combines the various business activities of the college together with the duties and responsibilities of all financial transactions. Elliot B. Earnshaw has occupied the position for twenty-nine years, has served as Superintendent of the College Hospital for a long period, and in addition is secretary to the board of trustees. During this time he has conducted his offices in such a friendly and pleasant manner that he counts among his friends every student with whom he has come into contact.

GRADY S. PATTERSON, B.A.,
Registrar

As officer of admissions, the Registrar passes on all applications and certificates of prospective students. His office receives and records in permanent form the scholastic standings of all students.

The present Registrar, Grady S. Patterson, has occupied his position for ten years. During this period he has introduced thoroughly modern and efficient methods into what was once a very congested office. He is recognized as an authority in his field, and he will next year head the Association of North Carolina Registrars.

DANIEL B. BRYAN, M.A., Ph.D.
Dean of The College and
Professor of Education

Upon the shoulders of Dr. Daniel B. Bryan fall the many tasks connected with the official college administration and various problems of student discipline. Dean of the college for thirteen years, he has served faithfully and well under three presidents. Wake Forest students look upon him as a real friend and respect his counsel. Faculty members appreciate his work as he labors to connect and properly coordinate the various departments of the School of Liberal Arts into a strong and compact unit of operation.

THE SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS

The largest division of the college, the School of Liberal Arts, embraces a total of thirteen distinct departments of instruction with a student enrollment of 852 and a faculty of 34 including five teaching fellows. The oldest unit of Wake Forest, this division has operated since the founding of the college in 1834. During the 102 years since the doors of the institution were first opened thousands of men have gone away to make brilliant records as teachers, ministers, journalists, men of business, and as citizens of the state and nation. Sixty-four years of successfully training men elapsed before the college's first professional school—the School of Law—was added in 1894. Eight years later, in 1902, the second professional unit of operation—the School of Medicine—was established.

Despite the fact that the two professional schools have grown to amazing proportions during their comparatively short period of existence, the School of Liberal Arts has grown along with them in both prestige and numbers. The faculty has enjoyed numerous additions, and the student enrollment has kept pace.

The following distinct departments with separate heads and faculty groups comprise the present school: The Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Education, English, Greek Language and Literature, Latin Language and Literature, Mathematics, Modern Languages, Physical Education, Physics, Psychology and Philosophy, Religion, and Social Sciences.

The largest student registration by departments is in the department of English with a total of 672 students. There are enrolled in the History division of the Department of Social Sciences 435 men, and in the Department of Mathematics, 406.

Graduates of the school are required to have a major and a minor in any two of the departments. Degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science are awarded at each Commencement.

Physical equipment is altogether complete, numerous additions in buildings and in work materials having been made within recent years. The newest additions are Wait Hall, housing the administrative offices and classrooms, a remodeled old gymnasium that now serves as headquarters for the Social Science Department, and a new gymnasium serving students in all three college divisions.

NEEDHAM Y. GULLEY, M.A., LL.D.
Dean Emeritus and Professor of Law

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

Since the Wake Forest College School of Law was founded in 1895 with Dr. Needham Y. Gulley as the only professor, it has grown until there are six professors teaching. In all, the school has graduated 1,504 lawyers. There are approximately 1,900 practicing attorneys in North Carolina.

Dr. Gulley has during his forty years as active dean established a record—both with regard to long tenure of office and quality of work done—probably without equal in the history of American legal education.

Dr. Dale F. Stansbury has taken over the administrative reins this year with commendable smoothness and efficiency. After hearing him and seeing him at work a year, North Carolinians feel confidence in Dr. Stansbury's ability to step into the shoes of his venerable predecessor.

This year eight out of the twenty-five who passed the state bar were Wake Foresters. This session also the number of volumes in the law library was trebled, and the school was recognized in every respect by the American Bar Association and other accrediting agencies.

Among the law school's illustrious alumni are all three Federal Judges in this state—E. Yates Webb, Isaac M.

Meekins, and Johnson J. Hayes. United States Senator Josiah William Bailey and the late Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt are likewise Wake Forest men.

DALE F. STANSBURY, B.S., LL.B., J.S.D.
Dean of Law and Professor of Law

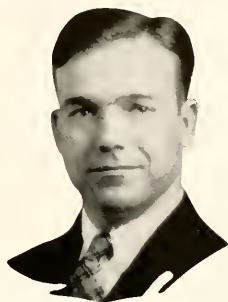

THE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

The Wake Forest College School of Medicine, threatened with abolition after thirty-three fruitful years of existence, came up to all requirements and is now accredited by every related standardizing agency in America. Although there are only half as many medical schools in America as there were in 1908, the school at Wake Forest has held its own, largely through the efforts of President Thurman D. Kitchin.

About five hundred doctors have been turned out by the School of Medicine, and most of them are making high marks in further study and practice. By combining academic and professional study, it is possible for a student to gain the baccalaureate and medical degrees of Wake Forest in seven years. Standards are so high that only about one-sixth of those who apply gain admittance into the medical school.

The first dean, in 1902, was Dr. Fred Cooke. He was succeeded by Dr. W. S. Rankin, now with the Duke Foundation, who served until he was made secretary of the State Board of Health. Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin now serves in the capacity of dean, with Dr. C. C. Carpenter as his friendly and efficient assistant. In addition to shouldering his share of administrative duties, Dr. Carpenter has made valuable contacts which should result in a better medical school for Wake Forest.

The physical plant is admirably suited for first class study and research. In 1933 the new William Amos Johnson

COY C. CARPENTER, B.A., M.D., F.A.C.P.
Assistant Dean of Medicine and Professor of Pathology

medical building was erected, with the highest type of classroom and laboratory facilities. Work here is supplemented by practical instructions in the Rex Hospital, Raleigh.

In the last two years the faculty of the Medical School has been increased by the addition of Dr. Hubert Benbury Haywood, professor of Medicine; Dr. Edward E. Herring, instructor in Surgery; Dr. Ivan M. Proctor, professor of Obstetrics; Dr. William B. Dewar, professor of Medicine; Dr. Hubert A. Royster, professor of Surgery; Dr. Joseph John Combs, instructor in Medicine; Dr. N. Henry McLeod, Jr., instructor in Medicine, and Dr. Robert L. McGee, Instructor in Medicine, and with this larger staff of highly trained instructors the Wake Forest Medical School is prepared for even higher usefulness.

MENT ASSOCIATION

THE STUDENT LEGISLATURE

The Student Legislature, which came into existence at Wake Forest College fifteen years ago, is the body whose primary function is to pass necessary laws for the enforcement of student government. The eleven legislators and twelve councilmen held several extra sessions in addition to their three regular meetings in October, February, and May.

Realizing that former rules concerning dishonesty on examinations and pledged work (as found in Article XIII, Section 2 of the Constitution) were unsatisfactory, the Legislative Department passed Amendment VIII, which later became law when ratified by the Student Body. In order to make the old penalty less harsh and to encourage good citizenship on the campus, the Legislature ruled that students found guilty of cheating should not be expelled until the second offense, that they fail the course in which they cheated, and that parents be notified of the action.

HISTORY

Seniority—what a coveted position, and what a short time has been spent in acquiring it! It seems that only yesterday we entered here and took our position as lowly "Frosh" under the domination of Sophomores. As we approach the end of our college career, we no longer think of each scholastic year as an independent unit; rather we see the unity of our college career as a whole, during which, under the guidance of helpful professors, our development has been gradual until at last we have reached our goal—graduation.

We point with pride to the fact that the senior class has maintained the traditions of its Alma Mater and has shared in all the vital activities of the campus—clubs, fraternities, literary societies, and inter-collegiate forensics.

Our achievement in scholarship is indicated by the fact that about thirty of our class members will have on their diplomas honors ranging from cum laude to summa cum laude. Our class of one hundred and forty-six members is distinguished as the largest in the history of the college; however, our chief claim to distinction is our achievement of the purpose for which we have spent four years here on the campus—preparation for living a rich, happy and more abundant life.

We graduate in the one hundred and second year since the founding of Wake Forest College, carrying with us the ideals and traditions of the college to be upheld henceforth in the great college of life.

HISTORY

The history of this institution, since its establishment in 1895, has been one of many achievements and successes, and the year just finished has been no exception to this noble history but rather an outstanding landmark in the development of Wake Forest as one of the best law schools in the South. The credit for this illuminating history goes, for the most part, to our efficient and well-versed law faculty, led up until this year by our beloved Dr. N. Y. Gulley, and now by the alert and able new dean, Dr. Dale F. Stansbury.

Late in December of the 1935 school year, when the American Bar Association held its annual meeting, the members of that body voted to admit Wake Forest as a member of its schools and placed it on the approved list of the American Bar Association's Council on Legal Education. This is an accomplishment of recognition that Wake Forest should be and is proud to proclaim, and the students join in with the alumni in lifting their hats to Dr. Stansbury, whose efforts made possible this honor.

Thus the year 1935-36 marks another year of Wake Forest's noble service to the legal profession of the state, as well as marks the beginning of a new era in legal education, not only in Wake Forest College but in the State of North Carolina.

HISTORY

To us it seems a dream (bad or otherwise). And so it seemed especially on that first morning when the thought uppermost in every mind was, "Am I positive I want to be a doctor, and if so, can I make the grade?" In this frame of mind is it any wonder that a strangeness and apprehension dominated our consciousness?

As days passed the apprehension remained but fortunately we had little time for worry. In the round of anatomy, chemistry, and embryology lectures and labs our mornings and afternoons were taken up. At night we prepared for those quizzes which we knew were as certain to come as Monday, Wednesday and Friday rolled around.

The capable leadership of our esteemed faculty soon gave us a vision of the joy and satisfaction to be obtained in performing our tasks well. To them we owe our small degree of success.

Now that we have reached the half-way mark in our years of study we feel that we cannot turn back. Our task has only begun; the opportunities that are before us demand that we concentrate all the powers of our intellect in preparation for a life of service.

As we depart for the schools of our choice we leave our Alma Mater with deep gratitude for the guidance she has afforded us in our search for knowledge. With diligence we shall successfully use the foundation she has given us to attain our long-sought-for aim.

There was some crooked work somewhere, but the seniors managed to select Rabbit Forbes as best dressed; Pot Poteat as most versatile; George Cople as most intellectual; Jay Smith as best senior athlete; Reid Staton as most popular; Mrs. Jelk's little boy, Joe, as best all-around; "Doc" Lupton as best looking; and Ryburn Stencil as most retiring.

Wake Forest 7 - Duke 26

Wake Forest opened its season at Greensboro on September 21, and for the fourth straight year the Blue Devils were the victors. The final score was 26-7.

The Deacons outfought and outplayed the Devils in the first half of the contest, twice threatening to score while holding Duke continually on the defense. However, Duke's superior reserve forces wore down the Baptists, and the Devils rolled up twenty-six points in the second half to Wake Forest's seven.

Ace Parker, Duke's nomination for All-American honors, scored three times for the Devils, while the lone Deacon score came on a double pass, Kitchin, Dooney to Morris, the latter running forty yards for the touchdown.

Wake Forest 0 - Carolina 14

The Deacons lost their second Big Five contest in as many weeks when the powerful University of North Carolina team scored a 14-0 victory at Chapel Hill.

The Tar Heel touchdowns came in the second and fourth periods resulting from sheer power plays by the great Carolina backfield, Jackson, Montgomery, Snyder and Hutchins.

Wake Forest's offense never got under way, and the Deacons were unable to net any yards gained for the day. Carolina's stone wall defense kept the Baptists from ever getting the ball past mid field.

Wake Forest 7 - Clemson 13

The Deacons traveled to Clemson College, S. C., on October 5 and lost their third game of the season to the Tigers. The final score was 13-7.

Clemson scored first in the opening period, but the Baptists came right back to take the lead on the strength of Walton Kitchin's great passing. Kitchin threw a pass to Bert Shore, good for forty yards, to put the Deacs on the seven yard line, and then hurled another to Shore for the touchdown. The extra point try was successful, and Wake Forest led 7-6. The Deacs held this lead until late in the third period when Streak Lawton returned a Wake Forest punt for seventy yards and the winning score.

Wake Forest 6 - State College 21

In a night game played in Raleigh on October 12 State's Wolfpack defeated Wake Forest for the first time in six years by rolling up a 21-6 triumph. State's two great running backs, Cowboy Robinson and Eddie Berlinski, were just too much for the Baptists. These two gave one of the greatest displays of running ever seen on Riddick Field.

Walton Kitchin, stellar Deacon quarterback, was Wake Forest's outstanding performer with his fine running and passing. His forty-yard pass put the Deacs on the two-yard line from where Hobo Daniel carried the ball across.

Wake Forest 0 Furman 9

Wake Forest dropped another contest to Furman on October 19, the score being 9-0. The game was played in Charlotte.

three periods, but the South Carolinians came up with a touchdown and a field goal in the fourth quarter to take the win.

Rohr was the spark of the Furman offense, while Walton Kitchin and Tex Edens, backs, and Bert Shore and Captain Perk Reinhardt, linemen, turned in the best work for the Baptists.

Wake Forest 7 - George Washington 6

Wake Forest recorded its first win of the season when the Deacs gained a thrilling 7-6 victory over George Washington's Colonials on Gore Field on October 25.

The game was a duel between two great backs, Wake Forest's Kitchin and George Washington's Tully Leemans. Kitchin completed nine passes, one to Tex Edens good for twenty yards and a touchdown, while Leemans proved to be one of the greatest running backs ever to play on Gore Field. Leemans was a constant threat tearing off gain after gain, and the Deacs were at no time able to completely stop him.

Tex Edens' conversion of the extra point was the margin of victory for Wake Forest.

Wake Forest 18 - Presbyterian College 0

The Deacons continued on the victory path by defeating Presbyterian College on November 2 in a contest played on Gore Field.

Wake Forest jumped off to an early lead when Harry Beaver and Forest Glass blocked a P. C. kick in the first quarter and Glass recovered it to carry the ball across for the score. Hobo Daniel scored the second touchdown in the third quarter after a sustained drive of sixty yards, and Dallas Morris finished the scoring for the day with a thirty-yard trip for the final touchdown.

Wake Forest 0 - University of Miami 3

On November 16 the Deacons went into Florida to meet the University of Miami Hurricanes and were defeated by the close score of 3-0.

Wake Forest was the favorite at the outset of the game, and the Baptists started out as though they would take an easy win. The Deacs, aided by the running of Harold Warren, Hobo Daniel and Walton Kitchin, produced several drives which carried them within striking distance of the goal line, but the Hurricane defense always stiffened to ward off the score. After being the aggressor throughout the game the Deacs wilted late in the fourth period, and a last minute field goal won for the University of Miami.

Wake Forest 7—Davidson 14

Playing before a Wake Forest Homecoming Day crowd of ten thousand, Davidson's Wildcats earned a 14-7 win over Wake Forest on Thanksgiving.

The Deacs started a drive early, led by Hobo Daniel, but failed to score, and Davidson's star, Paul Pittman, then started a march which produced a Wildcat touchdown in the second quarter. The Deacs came right back with Jim Dooney making a beautiful catch of Kitchin's forty-yard pass for a touchdown to tie the score.

The game was won in the third period when Paul Pittman again led Davidson down the field for the final touchdown of the game.

At the conclusion of the 1935 season Ed Rogers, who has played two years of varsity football at guard, was honored with the captaincy of the 1936 team, Rogers' fine play during the last season earned him recognition as one of the outstanding linemen of the Big Five.

Walton Kitchin, great Wake Forest quarterback, rated a position in every all-state backfield selected by sports writers and fans of the state, Kitchin's passing and running featured the Wake Forest offense throughout the entire season.

1935 Wake Forest Squad

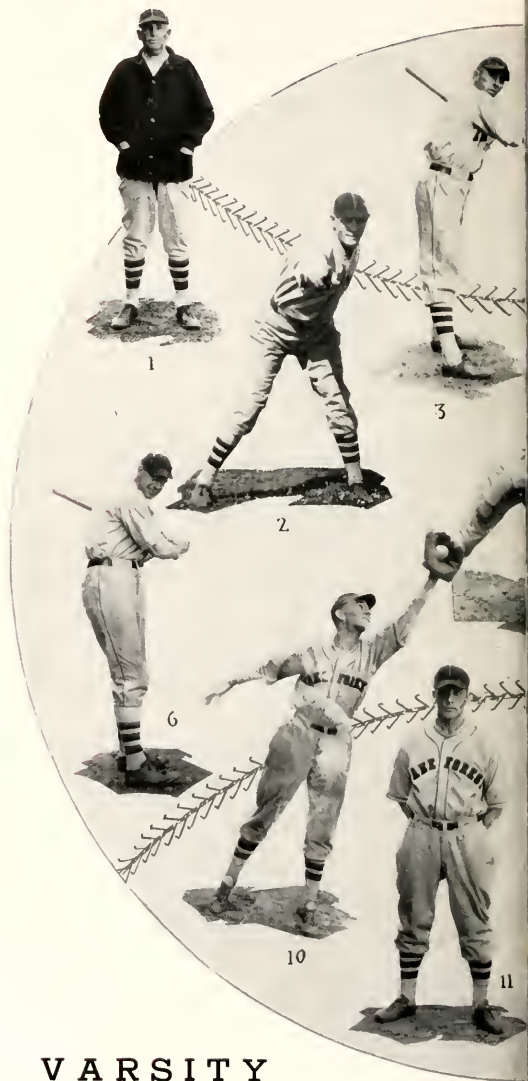

BASEBALL

After spending a year in the second division Wake Forest jumped back up into the first half of the Big Five by finishing second for the season of 1935.

Coach John Caddell's nine started the season by taking four straight wins, Michigan State, Elon, Randolph-Macon, and Duke being the victims. Two games were rained out with Davidson, and then the Deacs dropped their first contests of the year, Duke and Carolina being the winners. The Deacs then won three more, tripping the Chatham Manufacturing Company twice and Carolina once, before losing another, to Elon. Wake Forest pounded out its usual Easter Monday victory over State College, lost to Duke twice, and then trimmed Carolina once, Davidson twice and State once for four consecutive Big Five wins.

Wake Forest took its annual northern tour starting on May 7, but poor weather forced the postponement of half of the games. They started the trip by defeating Washington and Lee and Randolph-Macon and finished with a win over the United States Naval Base at Norfolk.

In their last four games of the season the Baptists split even, winning over Carolina and George Washington, while they lost to State twice.

The Wake Forest team of 1935 was led by Milky Gold, who played good ball in the outfield all year for the Deacs. He helped to form one of the best outfields in the state which had Dwight Wall in center and Dought Morris in left besides Gold. The infield was a fast combination made up of Floyd Patton, Jubie Mitchell, Pres Chappell and Dallas Morris. Porter Shepherd, Roy Myers and George Hooks handled the catching, and the three starting pitchers were John Gaddy, Doug Johnson and Braxton Rhodes.

At the conclusion of the 1935 season the members of the team honored Floyd Patton, hard-hitting first baseman with the captaincy of the team to succeed Milky Gold, leader of the '35 aggregation.

SQUAD

BASKETBALL '35-'36

Basketball took on a new importance at Wake Forest in 1935-36 with the use of the new gymnasium, and for the first time in many years the court game became a major sport in the minds of the students. With the new gymnasium came a marked improvement in the game at Wake Forest.

The Deacons started the basketball season with several games with independent teams throughout the state and recorded wins over the Durham "Y," the Chatham Blanketeers, the Erwin Red Birds, Statesville and Elkin. They lost one game to the Spindale quintet.

The opening collegiate competition of the season was offered by Wofford College in the first game after the Christmas holiday which the Deacons easily won. Carolina earned a hard fought 26-19 win in Wake Forest's next time out against Big Five competition, and then Duke defeated the Deacons by fifteen points. State College's powerful five sent the Deacs down to their third Big Five loss, and then the Red Terrors came to Wake Forest and won one of the best games of the season when they staged a last minute rally to snatch a 24-22 win from the Baptists who had led throughout the contest. Two contests were played with the University of Florida, the first which Wake Forest won, 34-32, and the second which was taken by the 'Gators 33-24. In the two games with Davidson the Deacons were victorious by the scores of 34-32 and 26-23. These two wins enabled Wake Forest to stay out of the Big Five cellar. The Baptists were unable to win from Carolina, Big Five champs, Duke or State. In their last two games the Deacons defeated Wofford by a 21-17 score and downed Randolph-Macon 29-20 in the season's finale. The northern trip found Wake Forest being defeated by George Washington, who had previously trimmed the Deacs, Baltimore University and William and Mary.

RESUMÉ OF T

The 1935 varsity track team ended its season with a record of one win for its three dual meets. The lone victory was recorded over the Catholic University trackmen. The two losses were sustained at the hands of Davidson and Richmond University. The scheduled meet with Guilford College was called off because of rain.

In addition to the dual meets the freshman and varsity teams entered the Southern Conference and State meets which were held at Chapel Hill. At the conference indoor meet Drake and Bristol were the only Deacons to place, both running fourth in their events.

The first meet of the outdoor season was with Davidson College, and the Wildcats amassed a total of 85 points to 41 for the Deacons. Terry Edens was high for Wake Forest with eight points, and also set a new school record for the "440." Harry Beaver also established a new record for the disc throw in the same meet.

In their next time out the Baptists scored a 99-27 victory over Catholic University. Manly Jones and Hobo Daniel each scored ten points to lead the Deacs, while Wall and Williams scored nine and eight points respectively.

The last dual meet of the season produced a 105-20 win for Richmond over the Deacons. This meet was held at Richmond.

TENNIS

Under the direction of Professor Jasper Memory as coach the Wake Forest tennis team begins its 1936 season with the brightest prospects in many years. Coach Memory felt that this year he has the best group he has ever had.

An unusually satisfactory schedule was arranged by Cal Dickinson, team manager, including a northern trip which carries the team through the state of Virginia.

From last year's team the Deacons have lost only Wilkins, and Carey Josey, Rivers Hanson, Bobbie Cahoon, and Marler Tuttle have returned from the 1935 squad. In addition to these men Arch McMillan and Morris Aderholt have come up from the freshman ranks to bolster the hopes for the team. Rivers Hanson has continued playing in the number one position this year and has been the mainstay of the team.

GOLF

After two rather unsuccessful seasons the Wake Forest golf team looks forward to 1936 as one of its best years in its history. With a group of seasoned players, fortified by a newcomer, Pritchard Carlton, the team sizes up as one of the best in years. Coach Downtin also has four seniors with him including Clyde Hatcher, leader of the team. This is Hatcher's third year of varsity golf competition, and he has always rated high among the collegiate golfers of North Carolina. He is rated as one of the favorites of the spring intercollegiate golf tournament. Besides Hatcher, Francis Paschal, Hubert Poteat, Jr., and Roscoe Wall are competing with the team. All are men who have established themselves in college golfing circles, and who have helped the Wake Forest team on to many victories.

The 1936 schedule includes such teams as the University of North Carolina, Duke, N. C. State, Davidson, the University of South Carolina, Hampden-Sydney, Georgetown, Boston University and Catawba whom Wake Forest defeated in the opening matches of the year.

From a win and loss standpoint the record of the freshman football team was not good, as they lost three and won only one. However, the Baby Deacs developed several boys who will undoubtedly be a great aid to the varsity in the future.

The Deaclets opened their season by losing to the powerful State College freshman team, 13-0. In their next encounter the Baby Deacs lost to Carolina 12-6, and then dropped another to Duke's frosh, 40-6. In the final game of the season the Wake Forest yearlings trounced Rocky Mount High School, 27-0.

BASEBALL

For the second consecutive year the Wake Forest Baby Deacons carried off the state baseball championship. The title race throughout the season was a close one between Wake Forest and Duke's Blue Imps. The pitching was handled mainly by Carl Byrd and Forest Glass, the mainstays of the hurling corps. Artie Smith, who covered the outfield with Jim Dooney, J. K. Biddle and Beamer Barnes, was the leading hitter of the team. The infield was made up of Yount, Aderholt, Dupree and Powell Smith, and Chub Peel and Gary Brunner took care of the catching.

BASKETBALL

The Baby Deacs presented in 1935-36 one of the fastest freshman outfits in the history of Wake Forest. The team won seventeen of their nineteen contests, losing two early season games to Duke and State. They defeated both of these teams in later games in addition to twice trimming the Carolina and Davidson freshmen.

Jimmy Waller, high scoring forward; Stan Apple, stellar guard; Smith Young, Rex Carter, Dave Fuller and Boyd Owens were the outstanding Deaclet performers.

TRACK

The freshman track team showed well in each of the four meets which it entered in 1935. They engaged Davidson, Duke and Richmond, and also entered the state meet. Bill Staton, half miler, was the outstanding freshman trackman. Wallace, hurdler; Ainsley, jumper; and McCarthy, weight man, were also prominent in their events. The addition of these freshmen to the varsity track squad will be of great help to Coach Utley.

THE HOWLER

The first HOWLER was issued May 20, 1903. Its purpose was to portray campus life through pictures. In this thirty-fourth Wake Forest yearbook, the staff has the same general purpose in mind; it hopes to show all phases of this college so faithfully and vividly that in years to come college days will live again when these pages are turned.

The HOWLER derived its name from a "tree bulletin" board on which handwritten gossip, news, and jokes were posted where all could see them. From that humble source this yearbook grew.

The two literary societies originally had charge of publishing the HOWLER, and it was only in recent years the yearbook became a separate unit. In its steady growth, several general developments are apparent. Many pages were added as individual pictures were substituted for group photographs. As fraternities came into existence, they were treated on pages formerly devoted to multitudinous county clubs.

The staff of the 1936 HOWLER has tried to give this edition a double usefulness as a reference book by including short, pertinent histories of various campus organizations. They have attempted to present the many-sided pageant of Wake Forest College life, to raise a monument to those incidents and individuals that have made this year an unforgettable one.

OLD GOLD AND BLACK

The Old Gold and Black, college weekly newspaper, was founded in 1916 with Professor Percy H. Wilson as the instigator. The faculty adviser was Dr. R. P. McCutcheon, now English professor at Tulane University and co-editor of the sophomore English anthology used here. The editor-in-chief was Cary J. Hunter, now a prominent journalist in New York City. Associate editor was Laurence Stallings, famous author and movie news reel editor.

The first issue was in the style of a magazine, being made up of several pages with only two columns each. Later the size was doubled, and finally the number was increased to six columns in 1921. It continued this size until the past session, when in February, 1936, Editor Charles Trueblood increased the Old Gold and Black to a seven-column paper.

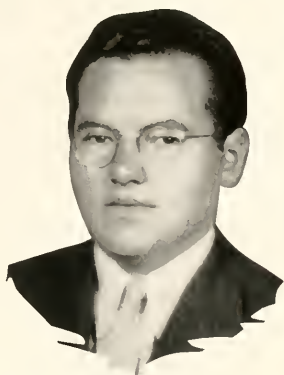

The paper serves the purpose of unifying college feeling by trying to publish news concerning all divisions on the campus. A comparatively small staff issued the paper this year, but plans are being made to enlist more writers and managerial assistants. The Old Gold and Black has proved very popular among the students; this session it has leaned toward the daily newspaper in technical makeup, with frequent streamers telling of politics, football games, or debates.

THE STUDENT

The oldest Wake Forest College publication is The Student, which began in 1882 with Thomas Dixon, well-known novelist, as corresponding editor. It was strictly literary until a temporary discontinuation in 1928. When the magazine emerged in 1932 it had changed its nature to its present form, a literary-humorous publication.

One of the peaks in the career of The Student during its old literary days was in 1909, when successive issues were dedicated as memorials to Robert E. Lee and John Charles McNeill. The Lee memorial edition in particular was a monumental work, and has been used by many scholars and biographers who have studied the life of that great Southerner.

The Student of today contains light subject matter catering to campus taste, in addition to essays, poems, short stories and editorials. Six issues come out every school year.

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD

President

Secretary

The Publications Board is an ex-officio body composed of the editor, business manager and faculty adviser of each of the three college publications—the HOWLER, the Student, and the Old Gold and Black—the president of the student body, one representative each, from the junior and senior classes, the head of the News Bureau, and the Bursar of the College.

Organized in 1934, the board derived its power from the student body by a vote of the students in that year. This action was taken at the instance of a proposal of a group of students who felt that the creation of such a board, with the duty of supervising the various college publications and passing on the eligibility of candidates for publication offices, would result in the production of a higher type of publication.

Under the rules adopted by the board to govern it in carrying out the duty placed upon it by the student body vote, a candidate must be approved by the board before his name is allowed to go on the general election ballot. In considering the candidate's eligibility the board takes into consideration his capability, experience, scholarship, and character.

PHILOMATHESIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Coming into existence jointly with the Euzelian Society, the Philomathesian Society has paralleled the activities and achievements of its sister society quite closely. Among the Philomathesian great are the late Dr. J. A. Campbell, Matthew T. Yates, and Senator F. M. Simmons. Although each society strives constantly to gain supremacy over the other, after a hundred years they are still "sister societies," united in purpose and great in accomplishments. This year the Philomathesian Society was victorious in both the Society Day and the Founders' Day contests.

Officers—First Semester: C. E. Hobgood, President; J. C. Markham, Jr., Vice President; P. A. Warren, Secretary; J. L. Warren, Treasurer; A. T. Hicks, Supervisor; Al Martin, Chaplain.

Second Semester: J. C. Markham, Jr., President; J. E. Knott, Vice President; J. E. Lawrence, Secretary; P. A. Warren, Treasurer; Pritchard Carlton, Supervisor; P. B. Nickens, Chaplain.

EUZELIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Euzelian Literary Society came into existence within a year after the college opened its doors, and for over a hundred years it has maintained an unbroken record of substantial activity in forensic work. Its members, among whom are such men as Dr. W. L. Poteat, Thomas Dixon, and President Thurman D. Kitchin, have always been eager to testify to the value of the training the Euzelian Society gave them. Today the Society claims all four of the varsity debaters, and has through the years continued its high reputation as a trainer of leaders and a moulder of men.

FOUNDERS' DAY

The Philomathesian Literary Society won Founders' Day laurels by taking the debate from the Euzelians. Clarence Hobgood, Phi, presided over Founders' Day, January 29, 1936, and Robert Campbell, Eu, acted as secretary.

The entire program was held at night in the Baptist church, beginning at eight o'clock. The first part of the program consisted of four orations, as follows: Al Martin, Phi, "Let Us Return"; John Lawrence, Phi, "War on Crime"; Archie McMillan, Eu, "Peace for a War-Weary World"; Don P. Johnston, Jr., Eu, "A New Outlook." This was a non-decision contest. Alternates were P. B. Nickens, Phi, and R. M. Helm, Eu.

The feature of the program was a debate on the query, "Resolved: That Italy is justified in pursuing a policy of armed conquest of Ethiopia." The affirmative was upheld by the victorious Philomathesians, John Markham, Ed Knott, and Dave Britt (alternate). Against them, debating the negative, were Euzelians Reade Pickler, A. B. Helms, and George Copple (alternate).

Marshals were Bill Jeffries, Phi; Wade Baker, Phi; Jeff Beale, Eu; Percival Perry, Eu.

SOCIETY DAY

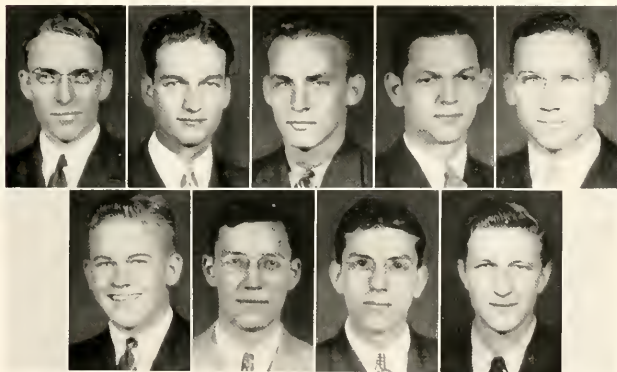

Society Day was held on November 9, with forensic contests both in the morning and at night. A banquet attended by literary society men and their girls was one of the features of the day.

Classes were suspended for the day in order to prevent conflicts with the scheduled program. In the morning, a debate was held in the Phi hall on the query, "Resolved: That the state of North Carolina should give financial aid to the denominational and privately endowed colleges within its borders." It was won by Al Martin and Charles Guy, who represented the Philomathesian Society. Debaters on the Euzelian side, upholding the affirmative, were George Copple and H. A. Matthews.

During the afternoon those interested in the societies watched the Wake Forest freshmen rout the Rocky Mount High School on the football field.

At night, four orators solved world problems for the benefit of an appreciative audience in the Euzelian hall. John Lawrence, Phi, won the contest with an oration on war and peace, entitled "A Justified Patriotism." Other orators were P. B. Nickens, Phi, "A History of Wake Forest;" George Copple, Eu, "Let Us Make Men;" Jeff Beale, Eu, "Retrospect;" alternates were Wade Baker, Phi, and Archie McMillan, Eu.

Marshals were R. B. Campbell, M. E. Gambrell, J. C. Herrin, and W. A. Brown.

The Dramatic Club, an age old campus organization, was reorganized in the middle of the 1934 school year and has since that time made rapid progress.

A faculty director was obtained and desirable quarters have been allotted them by the college. This group is the only body that is open to students interested in dramatics and has throughout the year attracted many men. The club has made several local appearances during the past year and has been very favorably received. Its number has been steadily upon the increase, and the club closed with its final performance a season of marked success.

FORENSICS

Intercollegiate debating was again this year quite definitely Wake Forest's most successful extracurricular activity. While athletic teams were turning in only mediocre season records, the Baptist debaters set a new record, winning eleven out of twelve debates to lead the nearest competitor in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament by two full contests. A team composed of George Copple and Hugh Archie Matthews attended the Eleventh Biennial Convention of Pi Kappi Delta from March 30 through May 3 at Houston, Texas. About seven hundred debaters from all over the United States took part. Copple succeeded in reaching the semifinals in extempore speaking, the only Wake Forest man ever to accomplish this. The Wake Forest debaters were hosts to a girls' team from William Jewel College on April 8. William Jewel is recognized as one of the nations outstanding teams, and this debate has always been the highlight of each season. Although a complete resume is not yet available, it is apparent that the percentage of wins for the season will be between seventy-five and eighty, an all-time record for Wake Forest teams. In addition to debating, the team has placed high in oratory, ex tempore, and impromptu speaking.

Members of this year's varsity team are George Copple, manager, Hugh Archie Matthews, A. B. Helms, and A. Hartwell Campbell. Helms is the only one of the debaters who will be back with the squad next fall.

The News Bureau was organized in 1929 under the direction of Professor J. L. Memory, Jr. Prior to this time the college news had been sent out by various students and faculty members who did their work well, but there was no continuous organization for the specific purpose of furnishing Wake Forest publicity to the state newspapers.

During this seven-year period an average of about four news releases have been sent each day to twenty daily newspapers throughout the state and various other periodicals, such as the Biblical Recorder, Charity and Children, and The State magazine. This means that about 10,000 news stories, totalling over 2,000,000 words, about Wake Forest have been furnished to the above papers. This includes both general news and sports releases, but does not include 500 annual stories on seniors in the spring and composite personnel write-ups in the fall sent to county newspapers.

Men have come from the ends of the earth into the warm fellowship of the ministerial conference, and hundreds of men have felt its abiding influence as they have preached, taught, and lived the gospel of Jesus Christ in all sections of the world.

Sixty-odd years ago the first ministerial conferences were led in the study of sermon building by Dr. William Royall. Forty years ago Dr. W. R. Cullom revived this group in deep gratitude for the aid that Dr. Royall had extended him in his student days. The purpose widened to the extent that ministerial students might meet and keep in touch with the vital things of their calling. A few years later it was organized into its present status.

For the last forty years men have drawn from Dr. Cullom's leadership in lectures, open forum discussions, and in study. Questions are raised and lives are enriched by thoughtful discussions of them. Ministers going out from Wake Forest College reflect with grateful hearts on this vital part of their college work.

The link that connects all religious activities on the campus is the Baptist Student Union. The different units controlled by the B. S. U. Council, to which they send representatives, are as follows: the Sunday School, Training Union, Ministerial Class, Mission Study Group, and prayer groups for morning watch and vespers. The B. S. U. Council joins these student religious organizations with the Church, and works out its financial budget in cooperation with the church treasurer.

In addition to supervising various religious organizations, the council has tried to give new men a hospitable reception to the college, has helped plan socials, and has stimulated interest in religious activity on the campus. At the beginning of the year, different religious leaders were each given a group of freshmen to be introduced to the standards and ideals of the college.

Roy Liles was elected president of the B. S. U. Council after Al Martin resigned this position to become president of the North Carolina Baptist Student Union.

BAPTIST TRAINING UNION

A challenge was given the Training Union at the beginning of this year by Director Fon H. Scofield, a challenge that every man in the organization accepted. The work of the previous year has not been surpassed nor equalled from the point of view of numbers, but the main goal has been approached. Real spiritual attainment and profitable training in the Christian program have made each man feel the value of the year's activity.

The work has stretched far afield. Representatives have taken part in extension programs in nearby communities. Cooperation with other colleges have made possible the enjoyment of reciprocal programs in schools as far away as W. C. U. N. C.

The fall study course was held with seventy-six men in attendance. Mr. W. A. Harrell, of Nashville, Tenn., was the visiting teacher of Training Union methods. Dr. A. C. Reid taught a course in soul-winning; and Dr. W. R. Cullom led a group in thinking about the important subject of "Planning a Life."

During the month of February it was decided to combine the regular evening church service with the general assembly of the Training Union. This combination has added much interest to the evening service and very interesting programs have been offered, including addresses by Dr. D. B. Bryan, Dr. H. H. McMillan, and a musical program of the B. S. U. choir.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Early in the history of this institution Bible classes were formed under the direction of some of the instructors. During the first twenty years of existence attendance was voluntary, but the catalogue of 1854-55, the first after Wingate became president, contains a new provision, that, on Sunday, "in the afternoon all classes are required to stand an examination on one or more chapters of the Old or New Testament." Several years later attendance was again made voluntary.

The roll of the Sunday School teachers here at Wake Forest include almost all of her famous teachers. Some of those that linger especially in the memory of alumni are Dr. W. G. Simmons, Prof. L. R. Mills, Dr. C. E. Taylor, Dr. E. W. Sykes, Prof. J. B. Carlyle, Dr. W. L. Poteat, Dr. N. Y. Gulley, and Dr. Benjamin Sledd.

The college Sunday School department is now composed of six outstanding teachers: Dr. W. L. Poteat, who has been teaching a class for the last fifty years; Dr. N. Y. Gulley, whose class for students and townspeople is nearly forty years old; Dr. A. C. Reid, organizer of his class in 1923; Dr. D. B. Bryan, who has had a splendid class for approximately twelve years; Prof. J. G. Carroll, whose class began under his supervision about eight years ago; and Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin, whose class for medical students was begun two years ago. John Ezell is superintendent of the college department.

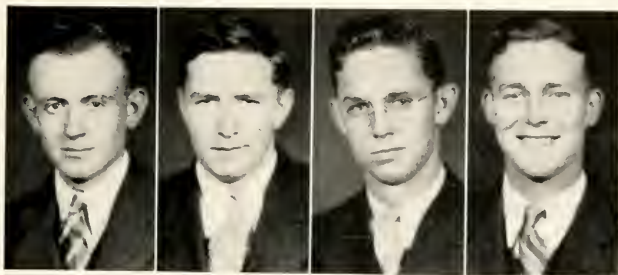

Through the efforts of these leaders Sunday School work is progressing on Wake Forest's campus. Last year Sunday School reached approximately twelve and five tenths per cent of the student body. This year it is attended by fourteen per cent.

The Wesley Foundation was organized at Wake Forest College in the fall of 1933, through the efforts of W. R. Dixon. The purpose of the organization is to advance the religious life of the students and to retain a decided contact with the Methodist Church, South. Its activities are open to all men, regardless of denomination, but it especially encourages the membership of those of the Methodist Church.

Shortly after the coming of fraternities to the campus of Wake Forest in 1920, there arose a need for a representative unit to deal equitably with the inevitable disputes arising between those bodies. The Pan-Hellenic Council was therefore organized having for its primary purpose, at its inception, the promulgation and enforcement of rushing rules. It was composed of one representative from each fraternity, and had as its faculty advisor Dr. H. B. Jones.

Some ten years later with the growth of more varied and complete social life the Council extended its jurisdiction to cover all social functions sponsored by the fraternities, both singly and as a body.

At the present time the Council finds its duties varied and exacting in the social, scholastic, and domestic life of the fraternities as a whole.

HISTORY

The Kappa Alpha Order had its origin at Washington and Lee University in December, 1865, under the inspiration and guidance of General Robert E. Lee. The fraternity is confined entirely to the South, its chapters extending from Maryland to California and remaining below the Mason-Dixon Line.

Tau Chapter was organized at Wake Forest College in 1881. It was the first fraternity to appear on the campus and lasted for only four years. It was re-established in 1889 and then lasted only three months, when it was suppressed by the faculty. Its final and lasting appearance was in 1922 when fraternities were legalized here at Wake Forest. The final establishment was under the guidance of Dr. H. M. Poteat and Prof. R. B. White. Up until this time it had existed only "sub rosa." Its history has been quite checkered but very colorful by the hard fight of the early members to keep it alive, despite faculty opposition.

HISTORY

In 1920, before social fraternities were permitted on the campus, seven students, who had been closely affiliated with each other, and who were possessed with similar ideas and ideals of life decided to form an organization that would bind them more closely together. With commendable leadership, this group under the name of the "Ain't Puttin' Out Club," proceeded to have frequent meetings and carry on the functions of a social fraternity. During the next year the Greek-letter orders were recognized by the trustees and faculty, and this group changed its name to Alpha Phi Omega.

This year will mark the close of sixteen years of existence on the campus, and with its close one hundred and four men will have been initiated into the ranks of Alpha Phi Omega. Eighteen men are wearing the sky-blue and white this year, and are upholding the standard set by their predecessors by attaining many honors in campus activities. Alpha Phi Omega has been offered charters from many well established nationals, but at present it prefers to remain local.

HISTORY

Theta Kappa Nu was established by the union of eleven well established local fraternities at a meeting held in Springfield, Missouri, June 9, 1924. The leaders of the meeting included Prof. Winslow S. Anderson, of N. C. State College, and Otto R. McAtee, of Springfield, Missouri. In 1921, the idea of organizing a national fraternity to combine a number of existing local fraternities had occurred to Anderson. During the early part of 1924, through the aid of several prominent fraternity leaders, he contacted McAtee, an alumnus of an old local at Drury College. These two found they had much in common, and began contacting a number of locals in different colleges for the purpose of calling the Springfield meeting.

North Carolina Beta Chapter was founded at Wake Forest College as Theta Pi, April, 1923. It was installed in December, 1924, as a part of Theta Kappa Nu by Prof. Winslow Anderson, of N. C. State. The enrollment of the local chapter has increased from seven charter members to the present one hundred and ten.

HISTORY

In 1924 fraternities at Wake Forest were beginning to establish themselves as dominant factors on the campus, following their permanent reinstatement by the board of trustees in 1921.

In 1924 there were only four fraternities on the campus. In the spring of that year several new organizations were recognized by the faculty, the first of these was Alpha Pi Delta. There were twelve charter members, and the proper constitution and ritual were drawn up, and the local was well established on the campus.

With the assistance of Professor P. H. Wilson, the faculty adviser, the fraternity erected a $10,000 house. Then, as now it was the only fraternity-owned home on the campus.

During the twelve years of the fraternities existence more than one hundred and twenty-five men have been initiated into the lodge.

The growth of the fraternity has been continuous. Its membership is heterogeneous, the fraternity being represented in every department of the college, and in most of the extra-curricula endeavors recognized by the college.

HISTORY

The Alpha Chapter of Pi Gamma Sigma, a local fraternity, was organized at Wake Forest College on October 13, 1924, by a group of students who felt a mutual benefit derived from their association and desired to become bound together by stronger ties than those of friendship and that these ties be perpetuated throughout life. This group consisted of ten men, nine from North Carolina and one from Tennessee.

During the entire life of the fraternity, it has received numerous honors in scholastic, political, and athletic activities of the college by its some one hundred and twenty-five members.

In 1929, the Alumni Association became firmly organized and has since then remained intact with the activities and undertakings of the fraternity. The monthly paper of the fraternity, Alpha Topics, was published for the first time in March, 1927, the publication of which still exists.

HISTORY

Chi Tau was founded by a group of men at Trinity College in 1913 for the purpose of fostering good fellowship and understanding among the students of that campus. Its growth was slow, but healthy, taking place mostly in the southeast and middlewest.

The Delta Chapter was installed at Wake Forest in 1923. One year later, the national organization disbanded and since that time Chi Tau Delta has continued to exist as a local fraternity.

In its thirteen years of existence, Chi Tau Delta has maintained a steady and flourishing growth, and its members have been represented in all phases of campus activity. A total of one hundred and thirty-eight men have been initiated into the local unit. Many well established nationals have offered charters to Chi Tau, but at the present, they prefer to carry on as a local.

HISTORY

Delta Sigma Chi had its beginning in the spring of 1927, although plans for the organization were not complete until the following fall. It was then the petition was affixed and presented to the faculty and Pan-Hellenic Council. The name of the fraternity when first proposed was Delta Theta Chi, but was later changed to its present appellation.

There were nine charter members of the organization, and as to the calibre of these men, their record since leaving school speaks for itself. Approximately seventy-five men have been initiated into her ranks since the founding in 1927.

At present the order has twenty active members and approximately seven pledges, all striving to keep up the good work for which the fraternity was founded and to bring nothing but honor to the nine who were responsible for the organization.

HISTORY

In May, 1932, the local fraternity Lambda Tau, then in the sixth year of its existence, became Chi chapter of Alpha Kappa Pi.

Alpha Kappa Pi was organized at the Newark College of Engineering at Newark, New Jersey, on January 1, 1921. Its fraternity magazine, The Alpha, has been in existence since the installation of Beta chapter in 1926. The fraternity colors are Dartmouth green and white—the flower, the yellow tea rose. Its membership is at present nearly two thousand, and Alpha Beta chapter was recently installed.

Chi chapter of Alpha Kappa Pi has led in campus activities, especially publications. This is the first year since its installation that at least one editor has not been among its members.

The only other chapter of Alpha Kappa Pi in North Carolina is at State College.

HISTORY

D.V.L. truthfully boasts of being the oldest local fraternity in North Carolina, having been founded sometime between 1875 and 1880. It was organized by a group, not for the exact purpose of modern fraternities, but merely as a fraternal organization in which its members might be brought closer fellowship.

About 1910, the trustees and administration of the college became antagonistic to fraternities of any kind, causing D.V.L. to disband until the reappearance of lodges in 1922. With this regeneration, D.V.L. proceeded to obtain a house for her members and carry on again.

About 1933, D.V.L. suffered a blow that almost spelled her downfall; many members were lost by graduation, and many more dropped out of school. In 1934 it lost her seat on the Pan-Hellenic Council, but in so doing, interest was recreated within the members on the campus, and at present she is going strong with a house and approximately twenty members.

HISTORY

Gamma Eta Gamma was founded on February 25, 1901, at the law school of the University of Maine, by Charles V. Holman, Harold Dudley Greeley, and Charles H. Reid, Jr.

Expansion into a national fraternity began with the installation of Beta Chapter at Boston University on May 23, 1902. Growth was limited to schools in the Eastern states until 1911, when a chapter was installed at the University of Michigan. In 1915 a coast to coast expansion was completed with the establishment of Kappa Chapter at the University of Oregon.

Beta Gamma Chapter was installed at Wake Forest on December 17, 1927, marking the start of the fraternity's expansion into the Southern states, climaxed with a chapter at Louisiana State University founded 1930.

Gamma Eta Gamma now has 32 chapters and a membership of over 5,000.

HISTORY

Phi Chi is the union of two fraternities of the same name. The eastern group known as the Phi Chi Society was organized at the University of Vermont, March 31, 1889; the southern group, known as the Phi Chi Fraternity was organized at the Louisville Medical College, October 26, 1894. The five eastern and sixteen southern chapters consolidated on March 5, 1905. The total chapters now being sixty-six, and it is estimated that in North Carolina alone there are three hundred and seventy-five practising Phi Chi physicians.

The latest and sixty-sixth chapter to be added was the Tau Kappa chapter at Wake Forest College, named in honor of a leading Phi Chi professor, dean of the Wake Forest Medical school, and president of Wake Forest College, Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin.

The charter members of Tau Kappa were initiated in a formal ceremony at Duke University, May 17, 1935. Since that time other members and pledges have been added to the local roster.

HISTORY

Until 1922 there was a ban on fraternities at Wake Forest. Shortly after this ban was removed a group of the medicos organized a local chapter called Sigma Alpha Beta. A number of these men came in contact with the chapter of Theta Kappa Psi at the University of North Carolina, became interested and petitioned for a charter—nine men being initiated as charter members. The installation took place on February 17, 1923, with Dr. J. Dawson Reeder presiding. Thus the chapter known as Gamma Pi was founded.

The names of the charter members are Dr. F. W. Carroll, Hookerton, N. C., Dr. Clarence Bailey, Rocky Mount, N. C., Dr. William G. Cheves, Bunn, N. C., Dr. Ino. B. Carlyle, Burlington, N. C., Dr. L. C. Mitchell, Sandersville, N. C., Dr. D. F. Moore, Shelby, N. C., Dr. J. R. White, Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Ross P. Wilson, Philadelphia, Pa., and Dr. G. B. Heckman, Swarthmore, Pa. With the close of this year 132 men will have been initiated into the chapter, an average of about ten men a year.

HISTORY

In 1924 the Wake Forest Medical school claimed only one fraternity, so a group of students not members of the then existing fraternity saw fit to organize the Alpha Delta chapter of Chi Zeta Chi. The organization carried on under this name until 1929 when it became Chi Theta chapter of Phi Rho Sigma.

Since its organization in 1924 the organization has initiated one hundred and forty-eight men into its ranks. It has carried a leading part in campus activities as well as medical school affairs. This year it claimed the president of the medical school and held to tradition by placing two men on the Golden Bough.

Phi Rho Sigma now has forty-eight chapters in its national organization. Chi Theta Chapter boasts of being the largest medical fraternity on the Wake Forest campus with sixteen present active members and twenty-one pledges.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be clearly documented, including the date, amount, and purpose of the transaction. This ensures transparency and allows for easy reconciliation of accounts.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze data. This includes direct observation, interviews, and the use of specialized software tools. Each method is described in detail, highlighting its strengths and potential limitations.

The third section focuses on the results of the study. It presents a series of tables and graphs that illustrate the findings. The data shows a clear trend of increasing activity over the period studied, which is attributed to several key factors discussed in the text.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations for future research and practical applications. It suggests that further exploration of the underlying causes of the observed trends would be beneficial, and offers several strategies for improving efficiency and accuracy in the field.
